Further information respecting the Spanish fire in Constantinople is now been received. It appears that one entire district, about one square mile in extent, was destroyed. At one time 30,000 persons were homeless. Other reports say 250 dead bodies had been discovered. Several persons, too, have been killed during the late riots at Smyrna. Every effort was made by Sir Henry Elliott to save the British Consulate, but without success. The whole building was soon suffocated when she left the building. An estimate in the Levant Herald fixes the loss at three million dollars.

Intelligence from Mexico announces that a violent earthquake has occurred at the city of Oajaca. Over 100 persons were killed, and 1,000 injured. Other towns have suffered severely, and in the State of Oajaca were damaged.

The Pungolo of Naples mentions a strange suicide committed at Gaeta. A sergeant named Cardelli, a young man of excellent conduct, was on the building where the artillery was kept, and, lighting the fuse of a shell intended to ensure, placed himself in front of it. He was blown literally to atoms, his head and feet alone being afterwards found. The cause assigned was, as stated in a letter left by his father and the other to his captain, extreme dislike of military life.

A State breakfast on an unusually grand scale will be given at Windsor by the Queen immediately after Majesty's return from Scotland. Marquises and Earls are already being erected on the lawn in front of the East-terrace, while a large marquee will be placed on the

The Court of Common Pleas decided to-day that the interest at the rate fixed as fixed at 5 per cent. on the subscribed capital.

Mr. Layward and Mr. Goldwin Smith.—Mr. Goldwin Smith has addressed to Mr. Disraeli, as the author of "Lothair," a letter of which the following is the substance:—"Your "Lothair," you remember, made an Oxford Professor who is about to emigrate to America, and you describe him as "a social parasite." You will see that I have not ventured openly to accuse me of any social baseness, you would have had a right to answer for your words. But, sheltering yourself under the literary forms of a work of fiction, you seek to traduce with impunity. I am not the inventor of a political opponent, your aspersions can touch no man's honour—they are the simplest lies that ever were told."

The sign of the Manchioness of Hastings with Sir George Chetwynd, Bart., was solemnised at St. James' church, Piccadilly, this morning.

A new dramatist of great promise made a sensation in the theatrical world on Saturday last, when his comedy of the Ticket of Leave Man was hailed at the theatre with unfeasonable acclamation. The name of the gentleman is Halliday.

An accident happened at the Alhambra during the performance of a ballet on Tuesday night. Towards the close the whole of the dancers were seated at the back of the stage preparatory to the pelgo, when the floor-bags gave way, and precipitated a considerable number of the girls into the machinery beneath, the fall being about 20 feet. The number of persons hurt is said to be 12, but the injuries of none of the girls rendered it necessary that they should be taken to the hospital, where it was found there was a little broken.

A father and mother named Watkin, at Macclesfield, lost their home on Saturday and the funeral of one of their children. They left in the house a little child of two under the care of a girl seven years of age. This girl, taking advantage of his parents' absence, fetched down a horse pistol to play with, and on putting a lighted match to the nipple the pistol exploded and killed the little brother dead instantly.

On Tuesday an inquest was held at Cardiff on the body of Henry Hetzel. The deceased, who was a Glasgow seaman, got mixed up in a street row, when another seaman named Kelly drew a knife and inflicted a wound on deceased. It was shown that deceased had given no provocation to the prisoner, who was found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to seitud months' imprisonment.

Mr. Bethnal Grimes, a retired farmer living at Kenilworth, while in a state of intoxication the other day, set himself on fire because his wife would not go to him when he called her, and died shortly after.

An accident which happened to Mr. Barber, the well-known equestrian, in riding at Olympia, Horse Show, has resulted in his death. Mr. Barber was known as one of the best and boldest cross-country riders in England, and was at one time the eight entries of hunters in the show. While riding his famous Hird-on-the-Wing in the arena, the animal suddenly reared over and fell back on him. Mr. Barber died last night.

At the Central Criminal Court, on Wednesday, the Grand Jury found true bills on three new indictments for felony against Arthur Pelham Clinton (commonly called Lord Arthur Clinton), Frank Noel Clinton, Mr. Robert Foulkes, and C. H. Thomas; and also true bills for misdemeanor against Lord Arthur Pelham Clinton, Martin Luther Cumming, Ernest Boulton, Fredk. Wm. Park, and G. H. Thomas. The last-named misdemeanor was for conspiring to disguise themselves as women, and to frequent public places as disguised for an unlawful purpose. Mr. Poland, as counsel for the prosecution, applied to the Judge for bench warrants authorising the apprehension of the persons named against whom the Grand Jury had found true bills for misdemeanor. Mr. Justice Blackburn, who presided, but afterwards left the court, declined to issue.—At the Central Criminal Court, this morning, before Justice Mellor, Boulton and Park were placed in the dock. The Attorney-General, the Solicitor-General, and Mr. Poland prosecuted. Serjt. Ballantine, Mr. Gifford, and Mr. Digby defended Park. Both prisoners pleaded not guilty to all the indictments. Serjt. Parry applied on behalf of the defendant for the trial to be next week, and argued that the prisoners were ignorant of the several charges brought against them, that they had not had time of preparing their defence, and that other parties against whom warrants had been issued were unable to be in attendance. The Attorney-General, who announced his intention of pressing all the charges, did not oppose the application. The Judge therefore granted it.
